

Access tier for Training Activities

There are two tiers of access to the PDC training activities. The first tier are fellows, faculty members, potential researchers that are initiating their careers in CTR. Those will start by enrolling in the NIH courses on Principles of Clinical Research and Principles of Clinical Pharmacology, which cover ethics, design, regulations, protocols and statistics. The second tier are those individuals that have a formal MSc degree and/or researchers with some experience that may be engaging in new fields and/or that would like to increase their productivity and/or that have become part of the mentor mentees teams. These individuals may benefit from the Art of Grantsmanship, the Scientific communication courses and the Grants Writing Bootcamp. Both tiers will also benefit from the availability of specialized workshops also coordinated with CEOC, BERD, BIBCE, TRRLC and also available in the DIAMOND Portal.
